What is Adventure Racing?

It's the newest, most exciting endurance sport to sweep the nation. Adventure races typically involve teams of two to five athletes working together non-stop from 3 hours to 10 days to complete some combination of the following disciplines:

- ? Mountain biking
- ? Trail running
- ? Trekking
- ? Kayaking / canoeing / rafting
- ? Navigating
- ? Mountaineering
- ? Descending/ascending fixed ropes
- ? Horseback riding

Races emphasize teamwork rather than individual achievement, which means the fittest team doesn't always win. Short sprint races allow athletes to get a taste of the sport while longer expedition races test a team's physical limits, spirit and ability to work together.

The New York Adventure Racing Association

We are a 501 (c) 3 non-profit organization whose purpose is to serve adventure racing athletes in the tri-state area and to work on promoting and fostering the sport any way we can. NYARA is made up of athletes with a variety of backgrounds and race experience levels.

Our mission:

- ? To promote adventure racing in the Northeastern United States
- ? To offer networking opportunities to people with similar interests
- ? To help individuals with similar or complementary skills build or join teams
- ? To act as an informational source to our members on such things as gear, technical advice, upcoming races in our area, and much more.
- ? To offer formal and informal adventure racing events, group and team training sessions and educational clinics
